

To Vax Or Not To Vax, There Is No Question

Megan: Come on Jack, go get your vaccine today and stop procrastinating, or being reluctant and anxious!

Jack: Why should I? I'm really skeptical about this, especially if they're going to pay people $100 to get this shot. They might be trying to con me into getting the jab!

Megan: Well, the incentives can be controversial, but the science isn't, Jack! If you don't get the shot in France, you can't even go to restaurants.

Jack: Hey, but I'm in America. There are many others who haven't either. It's a free country. They can't make me. Besides, it's no use against the Delta variant!

Megan: That's not true. You're still safer against the Delta variant if you're vaccinated. We can't reach herd immunity if people like you hold us back. The nearest gym is the closet location for your shot.

Jack: Alright, alright, I'll go get my shot today.
